The cold chain the Gulf’s pharma boom is still missing

Halcyon runs the region’s fastest-growing network of pharma-grade warehouses and refrigerated fleets. It is raising US$40 million to triple capacity where demand already exceeds it.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Pharmaceutical and fresh-food imports into the Gulf are growing faster than the cold storage built to hold them. Most of today’s capacity was designed for frozen food, not for the narrow 2–8°C bands that biologics and vaccines require, and not for the audit trail that regulators now ask for.

Halcyon was built for exactly that gap. Its facilities are GDP-certified, every pallet is tracked by sensor from dock to door, and customers see temperature and location data in real time. Pharma distributors, hospital groups and premium grocers sign multi-year contracts because switching carries regulatory risk.

“Customers don’t leave a cold chain that has never broken. Our churn is a rounding error.”

Revenue grew 49.8% in FY24 to US$44.2 million, and the business turned EBITDA-positive in FY23. Utilisation across the network has been above 90% for six consecutive quarters: the constraint on growth is space, not demand.

WHY HALCYON WINS

- 01 Certified where others are not. GDP certification at all 14 sites; a new entrant needs 18–24 months to match it.
- 02 Contracted revenue. 81% of FY25E revenue is under contracts of three years or more.
- 03 Software, not just sheds. Its own tracking platform cuts spoilage claims and is licensed to two third-party carriers.
- 04 Operating leverage. EBITDA margin has moved from –6% to 11% in two years as new sites fill.

KEY RISKS AND HOW THEY ARE MANAGED

- R1

Customer concentration. The top five customers are 38% of revenue, down from 52% in FY22.
- R2

Construction delay. Fixed-price contracts with penalty clauses on all three new sites.
- R3

Energy cost. Rooftop solar covers 30% of load at the newest sites; power is passed through in most contracts.
