

ATLAS

THE CRAFT QUARTERLY

VOLUME ONE

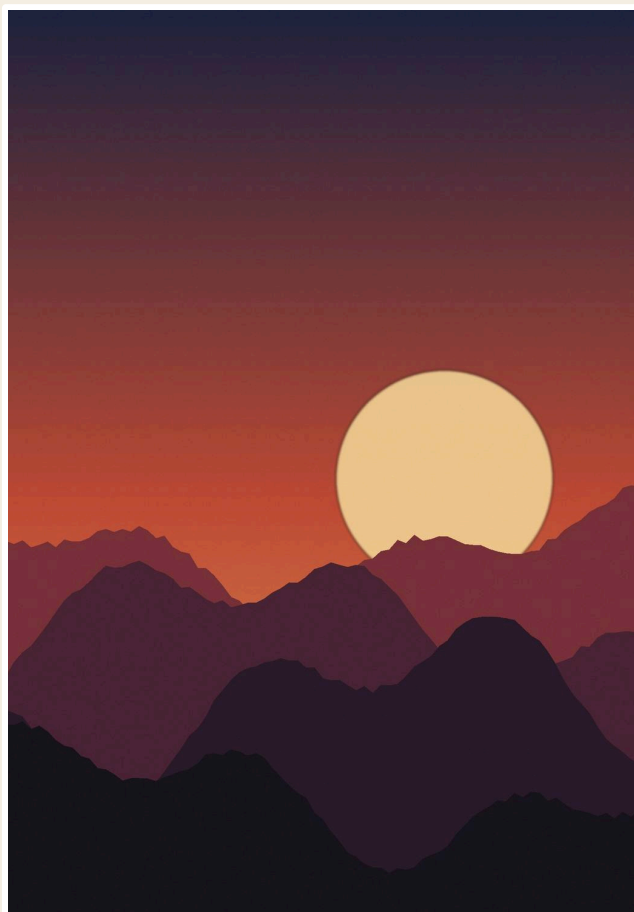

YOUR COVER LINE

A one-line deck that sells the issue.

A FEATURE TITLE

Replace this with your body copy. The leaf scaffold gives every page consistent margins, an edge tab, a folio and a running header automatically – you only write the content. Long text reflows safely because this kit uses Typst flow layout, never hand-placed coordinates.

Add as many paragraphs as you like; the column simply continues. Use the components above to build editorial rhythm: a pull quote to breathe, a caption box over an image, a kicker to open a section.

A typewriter caption sits over or beside the art – credit, note, or aside.

“A pull quote earns its place when the sentence is worth stopping for.”

SHOW, DON'T TELL

LINEAR

EASED

Hand-authored graphics like the dot diagram above are what make a document read as a magazine and not a report. Swap the data arrays in `spacingdots` for your own, or build new generators the same way. The components above also include colour scripts, depth layers, layer stacks and swatch rows.